Coach of the year?

How can one pick between a “young” architect of a five-guard system with a bench deep bench, ready to perform at a high pace for 32 minutes, and the “master” who devised a game plan to beat that system not once, but twice?

Amphitheater only had three losses this year – two were at the hands of Santa Rita. To make it more precise, Amphi went 3-2 over its last five games with Santa Rita being the ones responsible for the losses.

Amphi destroyed Santa Rita in their first game on January 19. The score was 90-76.

Then, Santa Rita beat Amphi to end the regular season and then to win a state championship.

This was Amphitheater’s best chance to win a state championship – it was Santa Rita’s second title in six tries with the last four coming in a row.

The 2010 championship was everything it was built up to be. We had one of the best players in Arizona going against one of the best teams in Arizona.

Terrell Stoglin is on his way to Maryland and the Phoenix media may slight him in favor of a player who plays against 3A competition for state player of the year.

Stoglin scored 90 points against Amphi this year – a 30 point average.

Aia365.com has the game available online for those who missed the chance to see this game in person. The announcer declared Santa Rita the champions way too early, not knowing that Amphi would get one last shot.

You will see Malcolm Millner’s last-second shot glance off the rim and just miss – inches from a state championship.

Ben Hurley has done away with the notion that teams must a center and two forwards and Jim Ferguson has raised the bar of consistency.
